Buyer's Guide

About Stewart

Welcome to the 2012 Stewart Garden Buyer's Guide.

For the coming season we will be introducing innovative new products, new colours and new packaging across our Growing and Planter ranges.

Our Premium growing products are now available in stunning new retail packs which highlight Stewart quality and reinforce our values as a leading UK manufacturer in the Garden market.

Additionally we continue to add to our POS initiatives to support our product in store and create consumer awareness and appreciation of the quality represented by the Stewart brand.

VALUES

Established in 1945, Stewart has an enviable reputation as a UK manufacturer and leading brand in the Garden products market. Within this market the Stewart brand is widely recognised as representing quality, innovation and excellent customer support. We are proud of our company heritage and our objective is to continue the development and improvement of all areas of our business in manufacturing, marketing and customer service.

INVESTMENT

Ongoing investment in new technology is enabling us to meet the challenges of a demanding market place. Trade customers and consumers will benefit from the results of new energy saving, highly efficient machinery which will bring forward a continual supply of new product at competitive market pricing. We are also adding to our significant level of merchandising and POS support as we recognise the vital importance of communicating the product benefits to your customers.

FUTURE A SUCCESSFUL BRITISH MANUFACTURER

Stewart is totally committed to the Garden products market and has a clearly identified programme of investment in new technology and products manufactured and distributed from our UK base. Efficiency benefits derived in partnership with the Carbon Trust demonstrate a continuation of our operating principles as an innovative, reliable and socially responsible supplier. As we enter our 67th year Stewart continues to look forward, planning the next phase of our development with a commitment to deliver excellent products and service to our valued customers.
